Sept. 25, 2025

Res Nova LLC, publisher of Warzone Eternal under license from Heroic Signatures, is excited to announce a partnership with Trans Atlantis Games, manufacturer of the popular Two Thin Coats miniatures paint range, which will be taking over the ongoing publication and distribution of Warzone Eternal.

Trans Atlantis Games is lead by Bob Watts, a veteran of the miniatures industry with decades of experience and, significantly for Warzone Eternal, the original publisher of Warzone 1st edition under his then company, Heartbreaker Hobbies. Long-time Warzone fans will be familiar with his in-world avatar, the Capitol hero Big Bob Watts!

"What a fantastic opportunity to return to the game that I was so heavily involved with all those years ago. What makes it more special is the new talents of Alex Kanous and Bryan CP Steele, reviving the game while at the same time streamlining it to meet today's standards. I can't wait for the Trans Atlantis team to sink our teeth back into the greatest story ever told in the tabletop world." – Bob Watts, President, Trans Atlantis Games

Combining the strong creative foundation established by Res Nova Games with the industry expertise and capabilities of Trans Atlantis Games will ensure that Warzone Eternal can grow in response to the game's success to date.

"Warzone is a beloved game, and the fan response to Warzone Eternal has made it clear that it deserves more than a "boutique" game treatment. I'm excited to see Trans Atlantis Games take it to the next level." – Alex Kanous, President, Res Nova LLC

Bryan C.P. Steele, the lead designer on Warzone Eternal, will continue in this role under Trans Atlantis Games.

"Warzone Eternal has been a labor of absolute love for Alex and I, and becoming part of the Trans Atlantis Games family is going to give us even more opportunity and room to grow this thing into something truly special. Getting to join forces with one of the oldest names in Warzone's illustrious history is just the icing on the cake." – Bryan C.P. Steele, Lead Designer, Warzone Eternal

About Warzone Eternal

Warzone Eternal is a fast-playing skirmish miniatures game set in the Mutant Chronicles universe in which players lead their forces through scenario-driven battles, engaging in the constant covert, or not so covert, fight for supremacy amongst the megacorporations or the never-ending battle against the darkness to preserve humanity—or destroy it. Warzone Eternal was launched by Res Nova LLC with a highly successful Kickstarter in 2023 and is available from manufacturing partner Trenchworx at <https://www.trenchworx.com>.

About Trans Atlantis Games

Trans Atlantis Games started as an idea by father and son, Bob & Ian Watts. The plan was to create a company that would not only produce games, but also products that would emphasize the hobby side of the games business. They were joined immediately by two long-term colleagues, Peter Buxton and Andy Gill, rounding out the initial management team.

About Res Nova LLC

Res Nova Games is an independent tabletop games publisher. A one-man operation run by Alex Kanous, Res Nova brought the Mutant Chronicles universe back to miniatures tabletop wargaming with the highly successful Kickstarter launch of Warzone Eternal in 2023.
